Safety tips when meeting an unfamiliar dog:

- Ask first before petting a dog. When meeting an unfamiliar dog, don't reach out to pet her. First, ask her pet parent, "May I pet your dog?" A strange hand in a dog's face may scare her, leading to a bite.
- After you receive permission to pet a dog, let her sniff your closed hand. Then you may proceed to pet her shoulders or chest. Avoid petting the top of the dog's head.
- Don't touch a dog who is sleeping, eating or chewing a toy. Respect her space, as startled dogs are more likely to bite.
- Avoid dogs who are barking or growling. It is also best to steer clear of dogs who are loose, behind a fence or tied up, or actively involved in a dog fight.
- If an unknown dog approaches you, stay quiet and still. Do not run or scream.
